WHAT SHOULD I DO?

- Find a safe place away from perpetrator.
- Call 9-1-1!!
- Know that this is NOT your fault.
- Preserve ALL evidence.
- Don't wash, comb, or clean any part of your body or clothing, if possible.
- Keep clothing as is after attack.
- If you must use the restroom, keep tissue for evidence.
- Do not eat or drink anything, there may be DNA in your mouth.
- Do not shower!!, etc...
- Call a friend, family member, or advocate, which you can trust, for support.
- Write down everything you can remember about the attack and the attacker.
- Seek medical attention as soon as possible. Even if there are no signs of physical harm, there is still a risk of Sexually Transmitted Diseases, as well as pregnancy in female victims. Medical Staff will also be able to collect evidence of the assault.
- Know that physical, emotional, and psychological healing after sexual assault takes time.

SEXUAL ASSAULT FACTS

Sexual assault is a broad term which includes any sexual behavior against another that is forced, coerced, or manipulated. Sexual assault also does not have to involve the use of a weapon. Victims of sexual assault can be working women, including homemakers, students, grandmothers, children, the rich, the poor, and even men. Most perpetrators of sexual assault are acquaintances, martial partners, strangers, family members, or individuals in power and control over the victim.

Rape is a violent crime—a hostile attack—and an attempt to hurt and humiliate the victim.

Rape is NOT motivated by sexual desire and does NOT happen because somehow the victim “asked for it”. Rape is a violent crime and can happen to anyone. Rape can happen anywhere. Some situations may be more high-risk than others, such as hitchhiking or walking alone at night. But more often than not, rape can happen in or near the victim's home.

Rapists do not look or act differently than other people. They can be acquaintances or friends, relatives, neighbors, or other familiar people. Some rapists carefully plan their attack and may rape more than one woman in the same neighborhood. The rapist's primary desire is to have control over another person by hurting, degrading, and humiliating the victim.

Rape

Forcible vaginal penetration of a female by a male without her consent and against her will.

Sexual Assault

Unwanted sexual contact that stops short of rape. This includes sexual touching, fondling, kissing, anal penetration and oral penetration.

TYPES

Stranger Rape Act of being assaulted by someone you do not know.

Sexual Exploitation by Helping Professionals Involves sexual contact of any kind between helping professional such as a doctor, therapist, teacher, priest, professor, or lawyer against a client.

Partner Rape Includes sexual acts committed without a person's consent or against their will when the perpetrator is the victim's current partner (married or not), previous partner, or co-habitor

Male Sexual Violence Men and boys are also the victims of sexual violence, sexual abuse, and rape.

Incest A type of sexual assault that occurs between people who are closely related. Examples: parents and children, uncles/aunts and nieces/nephews.

Hate Crimes A victimization of an individual based on their race, religion, national origin, ethnic identification, gender, or sexual orientation.

Drug Facilitated Sexual Violence Type of sexual violence in which drugs or alcohol are used in order to compromise a person's ability to consent to sexual activity.

Child Sexual Abuse Includes a wide range of sexual behaviors that take place between a child and an older person.

Acquaintance Rape Involves coercive sexual activities that happen against a person's will by means of force, violence, duress, or fear of bodily harm by someone you know.
